Workshop: Painting Light and Color in Watercolor

"In this workshop I will give students the tools to create painterly and believable watercolors; but more importantly, I seek to take them beyond merely "copying" their subject. An artist needs to also paint from his heart and seek to communicate the emotional and spiritual beauty of God's creation." I paint and teach in a very straightforward traditional manner because I believe I can most honestly say what I want to with my brush and juicy watercolor paint. Workshop participants will learn about light and color and the way watercolor behaves, dealing with dark values in watercolor, painting reflections and much, much more. The goal of my workshop is to encourage each artist to advance his or her own vision and to improve the skills necessary to communicate that in watercolor. I have enjoyed teaching watercolor for over 30 years and both my students and I have a lot of fun during the workshop. Steve paints mini demos and full paintings and there is plenty of student painting time and personal help available every day.
